£5 MILLION FURNITURE WAREHOUSE SELL-OFF!

Premium local furniture retailer, Lee Longlands has exclusively revealed details on their sensational £5 MILLION furniture warehouse sell-off which kicks off at 10am this Friday!

The event which runs for three days, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at their Lee Longlands and Vineys of Abingdon stores, will see the business clear £5 MILLION of stock. In fact we can exclusively reveal that these stores have been closed for two days so that everything from dining tables, sofas, beds and bedroom furniture to chairs, mirrors, lighting and rugs can be marked down ready for the huge event.

Robert Lee, Director at Lee Longlands, gave us the exclusive story "One of our major warehouse locations is coming to the end of its lease in September which means we have to reconfigure stocks in order to manage this change within our business. As a result we will be transferring vast amounts of stock to our stores and marking down every single item to clear through this event."

"This means we will have some of the most amazing choices of product lines at knock-down prices. What is more, no reasonable offer will be refused as these lines have to be cleared during this event."

AMAZING SUPPLIER DEALS

The media is constantly filled with reports of how tough the economy continues to be, especially for retailers so we asked Robert if the current difficult trading times had impacted on the Lee Longlands business – his response was surprisingly positive;

"These economic conditions have enabled us to find some cracking deals from our suppliers. What has amazed me is the exceptionally low prices we have been able to negotiate for superior quality products, and allowing us to pass savings onto our customers. As well as investing in upgrading our stores we have been investing in our online website."

ONLINE SUCCESS

"The online marketplace is increasingly important, and this warehouse reconfiguration is well timed as it enables us to look closely at the product ranges we stock and offer online to ensure we have the best possible selections."

"However, for this event we do have to stress customers have to come into our stores. Stock availability will be changing all the time so it would be nearly impossible for us to keep our website up to date with the latest availability and prices – we really do urge customers to get here early if they want the best of the bargains."

MISS IT. MISS OUT.

For the last few days Lee Longlands have closed their stores so that stock can be transferred in and marked down ready for this event. As the potential savings are so incredible it is expected that there will be long queues waiting in anticipation of the doors at their Abingdon and Vineys of Abingdon stores opening at 10am this Friday morning. We managed to get a few exclusive examples to show our readers exactly what will be on offer:

Duval Extending Oak Dining Table
WAS £899 NOW £54

Stressless Magic Medium Leather Recliner Chair
WAS £2,099 NOW £164

4'6" Vi Spring Traditional Bed Stead Mattress
WAS £1,220 NOW £192

"There are over 20,000 product lines from famous brand names all ready to be sold so turnover of stock will be rapid – it really has to be a first come, first served situation."

"We anticipate so much stock rotation that we've had to take extra delivery staff on for the footfall."

Robert also said "Many famous brand names will be on offer this weekend including NATUZZI, TEMPUR and STRESSLESS, with products ranging from sofas, chairs, dining and bedroom furniture, bed frames, mattresses, flooring, carpets and rugs – right through to mirrors, pictures and home accessories – there really will be something to whet every customer's appetite."

EXCITING TIMES AHEAD

Robert finished by saying "The future is really positive for us, we are in our 111th year of trading and our aim is to continue to be at the forefront of furniture retailing in the Midlands. Our business has remained successful as we are constantly ensuring we offer the best home furniture products from the most stylishly designed brands but always at guaranteed lowest prices. We even have a full time team reviewing all our competitors prices to ensure we remain the best value."

"By constantly improving our stores and our online offering we strive to continue to bring our customers everything they have always come to expect from us today and more exciting products in the future."

More houses planned by site of controversial development

A 100-HOME 'NIGHTMARE'

A "NIGHTMARE" bid for another 100 homes to the south of Bodicote has been made public.

They would be built off Banbury Road at Cotefield Farm, directly south of another site at which work will start on 82 homes in the spring.

Landowner Roland Bratt is now seeking Cherwell District Council's (CDC) views on the impact of another 100 homes.

Bodicote Parish Council and 65 residents opposed the 82-home plan, which the district council threw out in August 2011.

But applicant Banner Homes appealed and the Planning Inspectorate approved the scheme in March 2012. Parish council planning committee chairman Patricia Cowan said: "It is a nightmare scenario and it seems we can do nothing about it."

By Oliver Evans

"We strongly objected to the development of 82 houses because of the impact on traffic and schools. The Oxford Road is nearly always suffering from partial grid-lock."

Councillors are already concerned about 1,100 homes approved for north of Canal Lane, near Bodicote.

Leigh Halligan, 23, of West Bar Street, Banbury, pleaded guilty to the same offence on August 12.

Guest escape hotel blaze

■ WARMINGTON: More than 50 firefighters battled a blaze at a hotel.

Crews were called to the Premier Inn on the B4100 at around 3pm on Thursday.

It is understood a "relatively low" number of guests and staff were led out of the 54-bedroom hotel. Spokesman Richard Prescott said: "We found alternative accommodation for our guests and would like to apologise for any inconvenience that may have been caused."

The cause of the fire is not yet known.

■ 100-home plan 'would break Bodicote's rural gap'

Residents want scheme blocked

And the council is set to earmark another 400 south of Canal Lane, breaking the rural gap between Bodicote and Banbury.

Mrs Cowan said: "We have had more than enough. We are gradually being swept up in development."

The Planning Inspectorate passed the 82-home plan as it said Cherwell was not hitting house-building targets.

This was despite it not being in CDC's draft local plan of where it wants major development to go to 2031, including Canal Lane.

But Banbury MP Sir Tony Baldry said the council was now meeting housing targets and the draft local plan would soon be approved, damaging the case for schemes like Mr Bratt's.

He said: "I think the reality is that from now on in if planning applications are consistent with proposals in the draft local plan they will be approved. If they are planning applications for development which are not consistent with the draft local plan, they will be refused."

He said he would be "very surprised" if the draft local plan did not carry "considerable weight" when decisions were made on schemes.

Mr Bratt said: "It is within an existing settlement, it is a sustainable location. It doesn't intrude into the open countryside. Many people choose to live in Bodicote because of its convenience to Banbury. It is not what you would describe as a remote village."

Adding homes are "desperately" needed, he said: "You have to be pragmatic about where Bodicote actually sits in the hierarchy of developable places."

He has put in a screening application to see if a full planning application would need an environmental impact assessment.

Annual competition attracts contestants from all over country

Town criers' contest

'absolutely fabulous'

Marion Lowe takes her turn

By Emma Harrison

TOWN crier Marion Lowe was proud to represent her town at the Banbury Town crier competition.

She was one of 25 town criers from all over the country who took part in the contest, which drew in the crowds to the bandstand in High Street, Banbury, on Saturday.

The competition, in its 10th year, began with a procession of town criers walking from the Whately Hall Hotel in Horsefair to the town hall.

Mrs Lowe, a town crier for her town of Shipston-on-Stour, said: "It was just amazing.

"It was absolutely fabulous, the camaraderie is brilliant. You get to learn about other towns where people have come from. "It was full of character and traditional."

Mrs Lowe did not place in the competition, but added: "It was really busy in the morning, lots of good atmosphere. "It is an honour and a privilege to cry for your town. "I love it, I am so lucky."

Sandwell Town Crier Adrian Holmes, from Great Barr, won the contest and was also named best-dressed crier.

The contest tied in with the 21st street organ festival.

About 20 street organists dressed up in Victorian costumes to raise money for this year's chosen charity BYHP, which supports homeless young people and those at risk of becoming homeless.

■ The first 81 out of a projected 840 four- to 19-year-olds start at Heyford Park

First free school opens

IT has been more than 18 months in the planning, but the doors to North Oxfordshire's first free school opened last week.

A total of 81 pupils stepped through the gates of Heyford Park Free School, claiming a place in its history as its first pupils.

By Sam McGregor

There were 20 four-year-olds starting in reception and 61 pupils in Year Seven – the first year of secondary school. Pupils from Bicester had opted to travel to Upper Heyford, some to avoid going to Bicester Community College, which is presently in special measures. The £12m school aims eventually to take 840 children from ages four to 19.

Parent Kirsten Kinsella-Miles, of Bicester, sent her 11-year-old daughter, Isabelle, to the new school, rather than BCC.

She said: "I was willing to take the risk of it being a new school. I felt very positive when I was there today."

Julie Silvester, whose granddaughter, Maisie, 11, also started at the school, said she had also chosen the school in preference to BCC.

She said: "I had reservations first of all that Maisie would be the oldest, but I thought that as she goes to an athletics club where she meets older people, does it really matter?"

She said the advantage of the school was that parents and carers were involved in decisions, including the uniform. Principal David Castle said: "We had a positive morning. We have had our opening ceremony and gave out the school tie. It was all just very positive."

The school opened in temporary buildings while work to refurbish the former sports centre and officers' mess takes place.

Mr Castle, who took on the post last December, has been working behind the scenes to pull together the school's curriculum and teaching teams.

He said: "It feels fantastic to see children excited to be here and parents happy the school is open. But there is also a sense of pride, as we have worked with so many – people, parents and local businesses – to deliver an education plan people believe in."

Pupils enter the school for the first time

School houses

● Pupils have been split into a house system, Bader, Lindh and McGuire in memory of RAF pilot Sir Douglas Bader, and two former USAF servicemen, Pilot Captain Jerry Lindh, 28, and navigator Major David "Mike" McGuire, 37, who died heroes in 1992 after preventing their stricken swing-wing fighter-bomber from crashing on to houses in North Aston and Upper Heyford.

■ Club to put model of Hook Norton ironstone quarries on display

Recreating the past in miniature form

Chris Goodwin puts the finishing touches to his layout of the Hook Norton railway

SO FAR, it has taken 15 years to perfect and construct.

Now, a working model of the Hook Norton ironstone quarries, built by members of the Oxford and District Model Club, will go on show at an exhibition.

The model shows the ironstone quarries near Hook Norton which supplied ironstone to the Brymbo steelworks in Wrexham from 1899 to 1946.

Since Brymbo was 132 miles away, a narrow gauge tramway system was set up to transport the ironstone.

This became the largest 2ft gauge railway in the ironstone industry.

Now very little of the works remain, and only the engine shed and remodelled workshop building can be seen.

Chris Goodwin has been working on the model for 15 years.

It is still a work in progress but this is the first time it has gone on show at the exhibition.

By Tom Burrows

When completed, it will be 25ft x 5ft.

He said: "Everything is made from scratch. I have got quite an extensive collection of photographs of the ironstone quarries and modelled the layout on that."

"The project started off with me and my son Michael, 35, and about four other people."

"Over the years people have moved on to other things and other people have helped out but I have been the person doing most of it. I have probably worked on it for an average of an hour a day or more."

The former research assistant in the physics department at Oxford University added: "It's been a very interesting project."

"I like problem-solving. I am interesting in making all the bits and am more of a constructor than an operator."

"I am interested for other people to see what I have done and to appreciate the effort that's gone into it."

The Oxford and District Model Club has been running since 1966 and this is the 44th annual exhibition.

Exhibition manager Ron Alcock said: "I have been involved in the club for about 35 years and am the last surviving founding member."

"There are 15 working layouts on show at the exhibition, six of which have been built by club members."

"I enjoy the exhibition. It's a challenge but I do still get a buzz from doing it."

"At the end of the day I always think we put on a good show."

The exhibition is open from 10.30am to 5pm at the United Reformed Church halls, Collinwood Road, Risinghurst, Oxford, on Saturday, September 21. Admission is £4 for adults and is free for children.

Headteacher delighted as primary taken out of special measures

Tori Gibbard from year three working in the English class at Grange School in Banbury

Failing school gets good Ofsted rating

A PRIMARY school criticised over results and leadership has been taken out of special measures amid praise from Ofsted inspectors.

Grange Primary School was rated inadequate and put in special measures following an inspection in March last year.

The Avocat Way school was "failing to give its pupils an acceptable standard of education", particularly in English and maths, it said.

Leaders were "not demonstrating the capacity to secure the necessary improvement" and assessments were not used correctly.

Now the inspectorate has moved the school's inadequate rating to good. A July inspection found it had "improved considerably" under "strong and stable leadership" and leaders "rigorously monitor teaching".

By Oliver Evans

Lessons are well planned, teaching is "typically good" and pupils make "good progress" in reading, writing and maths, it said.

It said: "Strong, stable and effective leadership at all levels is the main reason why the school has improved considerably since the previous inspection."

Yet it said teachers "miss some opportunities" to further pupils' knowledge and progress in writing is not as fast as in reading and maths.

Beverley Boswell, who was appointed headteacher in April, said: "We are delighted. To go from special measures into a good category is really a brilliant achievement."

"It was clear to me that the school had done a lot of work towards improvement."

"There is a real strong sense of community here. The parents are very, very supportive and I have been really impressed by the dedication and hard work of the staff."

Fire at F1 team's HQ

■ BANBURY: An electrical fault is thought to be the cause of a fire which broke out in the Marussia F1 race team headquarters in Banbury.

Fire crews were called at 4.50am on Thursday to the Overthorpe Road site.

The site had a fire detection system fitted and a 24-hour-security guard who spotted the fire in the computer server room.

Crews from Banbury and Deddington found a developing fire in the computer suite.

The incident was dealt with in under an hour and business resumed as normal for the team, which was preparing for Sunday's Italian Grand Prix.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Oxford, Banbury & Abingdon areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

£100k to free up old homes

A £100,000 council spending plan has been approved, in a bid to get empty North Oxfordshire homes back into use.

The Cherwell District Council fund will pay for legal action and remedial work, for which costs plus interest can be recovered.

The £80,000 to £100,000 fund is aimed at tackling demand for homes, including 3,700 on the district's social housing waiting list.

Some 598 properties have been empty for more than six months, council records show, 223 furnished and 375 unfurnished.

Its powers include empty dwelling management orders where it legally possesses – but does not own – a home.

None have been made, though spokesman Gill Butterworth said the cash would ensure "we have funding in place should it be required".

Cherwell can also carry out remedial "works-in-default" if the owner fails to do the work himself.

Six works-in-default worth £32,800 have been carried out since April 2011.

■ Former Olympic rower returns to her roots and becomes NFU's county adviser

Farmers' new champion

OXFORDSHIRE farmers have a new Olympic champion.

Former Olympic rower Annie Vernon is now working for the National Farmers' Union.

Her eight-year international career saw her win silver at Beijing 2008, but before that she grew up and helped out on her family's dairy farm in Cornwall.

As an NFU county adviser she will champion Oxfordshire farmers' causes and help them lobby the government.

She said: "The British countryside is sometimes the most fantastic place to live and we should defend it with our dying breath.

"I really believe in farming and British food production, I could never do a job I didn't really believe in."

Ms Vernon took up rowing while studying at Cambridge University, and her parents have continued to run their dairy and beef farm.

She said she had always retained a love of farming and an interest in the NFU, so when the job was advertised on the website she applied.

In her new role as county adviser for Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire she will advise members on how policy relates to their business.

She will also represent farming interests to local authorities, help farmers lobby Government and act as a police liaison officer.

Recently she met Police and Crime Commissioner, Anthony Stansfeld.

One issue that is resonant with her at the moment is bovine tuberculosis.

Her parents' dairy and beef farm in Cornwall, where she grew up, has just been given a positive test for the disease.

She said: "That could absolutely destroy them so that is one of my biggest concerns. Bovine TB restrictions can kill your business. "Farmers are already doing all they can to stop it from spreading, but it is all about trying to get the government to work as hard as they can to help."

Ms Vernon lives in Henley, and her job will be based at Milton Common, near Thame.

She succeeds Nerys Wright who left the role for a post with EBLEX, the governing body of the English beef and sheep industry.

The post of county adviser was created in November last year following a decision by the NFU's governing council to invest £500,000 in its regional activities.

NFU South East Regional Director William White said: "The NFU's review of its regional activities recognised the need to improve connection with our members and to sharpen the focus of our work at a county level.

"We recognise that NFU members value local engagement with MPs, local authorities, the police and a myriad of other stakeholders.

"County advisers are in post to strengthen the NFU's efforts in this area and to complement the work of our existing network of group secretaries. Advisers are already re-invigorating our lobbying campaigns."

Lifting the mystery that surrounds the Masons

By Damian Fantato

MANY consider it a secret society shrouded in mystery but Oxfordshire's Masons say nothing could be further from the truth.

While many of the society's practices – such as its famous secret handshake – are destined to remain undisclosed, the Oxfordshire branch of Freemasonry – which has around 2,000 members – is hoping to shed a little light on what it is all about.

Stephen Dunning, the Provincial Grand Master for Oxfordshire, says a lot of what is said about Masons is “bunkum”.

He said: “I am saddened by the misunderstandings, not frustrated about them because often I find that the people who come out with these theories don't want to find out the facts.

“The charities we raise money for have no problem with the fact that we are Masons. They are incredibly grateful for the support.

“I believe we are part of the community and I would like the community to have as much information about us as possible.”

Mr Dunning, 61, who lives in Bampton, was introduced to Freemasonry through his father-in-law and joined in 1984.

Most of the organisation's “secret” rituals, he said, are published in books available from mainstream bookshops.

Former police officer and Witney resident Roger Hampshire, the Provincial Grand Charity Steward, said: “The main reason people join the Masons is friendship and having somewhere to meet like-minded people and some of them are very keen to know about the charitable side of it.

“I joined Thames Valley Police in 1972 and I became a Mason because it was just a way of socialising with my colleagues.”

One of the most popular myths about Freemasonry revolves around its use of the so-called “all-seeing eye” in its iconography.

Some claim that the eye's appearance on the Great Seal of the United States shows the Freemasonry's influence in the country's founding.

But Mr Dunning said: “One of the key things about becoming a Mason is the belief in a supreme being and the all-seeing eye is just a representation of that.”

Which religion that Supreme Being comes from is irrelevant and Mr Dunning says Oxfordshire's Masonic lodge has members who are Christian, Jewish, Muslim and Sikh.

Mr Dunning, a lawyer, said: “We have got lots of people of different faiths.

“Nobody is surprised when you tell them you are a Mason. I have a magazine called Freemasonry Today which I leave in my office. I am very proud to be a Mason.”

Mr Hampshire added: “Nowadays it seems normal.”

Just what are Masons?

FREEMASONRY is a fraternal organisation, the precise origins of which are unclear but it owes its creation to the loose organisation of medieval stonemasonry.

Becoming a Mason is restricted to those who are male, aged over 21 and who believe in a “supreme being”.

The United Grand Lodge of England – whose Grand Master is the Duke of Kent – estimates that there are around six million Masons worldwide.

There are around 8,000 lodges in England which are grouped into Provincial Grand Lodges, of which Oxfordshire is one, roughly equivalent to the country's historic counties. These make up the United Grand Lodge of England.

According to the United Grand Lodge of England, Freemasonry instills in its members a “moral and ethical approach to life”, of which charity work forms an important part.

Famous Masons include Sir Winston Churchill, Sir Ernest Shackleton, Peter Sellers, Sir Alf Ramsey and locally former Oxfordshire County Council leader Keith Mitchell as well as Elias Ashmole, the founder of the Ashmolean Museum.

Roger Hampshire, provincial grand charity steward, with the ‘rough and smooth Ashlar’ – which illustrates the mason's journey from a rough block to polished stone

Calling all saucy comedy fans

After their highly successful production of Calendar Girls in 2012, Cropredy Harlequins have been spurred on to even more adventurous heights and are preparing the group's first ever touring production.

Dirty Dusting by Ed Waugh and Trevor Wood is a saucy but hilarious modern comedy which has been touring the world professionally since 2003.

When three elderly ladies, Olive, Gladys and Elsie, are threatened with redundancy they feel that their lives are coming to an end until a chance wrong number gives them a new business start-up idea – why not run a telephone sex line? They've got motive, opportunity and a lifetime of experience – some more than others, mind you. There's no reason why they can't get rich quick providing they can keep their operation a secret from their bosses... and their husbands... and their children... and their grandchildren.

Director Caroline Watsham says: "This is, quite honestly, one of the funniest scripts I've ever read. We have a great cast – three women and one man – and we've laughed our way through every rehearsal!

Caroline describes the humour of the play as falling somewhere between Victoria Wood's Dinner Ladies and Mrs Brown's Boys.

"There is some strong language, and of course some adult subject matter, so it's not a play for children, but it'll certainly make for a great evening out".

Audiences will be seated cabaret-style at tables, and can bring their own picnic supper and drinks to enjoy before the show and during the interval.

Performance dates and venues are: Thursday, September 26, at Cropredy Village Hall; Friday, September 27, at Chacombe Village Hall, and Saturday, September 28, at Mollington Village Hall.

■ Doors open from 6.45pm, curtain-up at 8pm. Tickets, priced £6, are available from Bridge Stores in Cropredy or from the Harlequins' box office on 01295 758224.

■ For general inquiries on the production, please call 01295 750442.

Energetic blues rock from one of Oxfordshire's most talented bands, In Zanadu, is on the menu down at The Jericho Tavern, Oxford on Wednesday, (September 18).

Wednesday's busy line-up at the Jericho Tavern also features support from Birmingham singer songwriter Alex Lanyon, solo artist Ed Templer and five-piece Oxford rock band, Stroke of Luck.

In Zanadu is a five-piece band based in Oxford but also drawing talent from outside the city.

Meet the real Calendar Girl

DRAMA fans should make a date for Tricia Stewart, the driving force behind the original Calendar Girls "Alternative WI Calendar".

It was Tricia's idea that sparked a fundraising phenomenon and she will speak at the Mill Arts Centre, Banbury on Tuesday (September 17), at 8pm.

Tricia is a funny, inspirational and motivational speaker who will talk about her life and work with the original Calendar Girls. She inspired the character of Chrissie in the original production.

This is a chance for Banbury to support the outstanding work of the Leukaemia & Lymphoma Research charity and make a contribution to them.

A free glass of wine or fruit juice will be served and all profits go to the charity.

Clare Lester, director of Banbury Cross Players' up-and-coming production of Calendar Girls in November this year said: "This is a fantastic opportunity to hear Tricia speak about the ideas that sparked the fundraising phenomenon which has inspired the world."

■ Tickets cost £7.50 from the Mill box office by calling 01295 279002 or visit themillartscentre.co.uk.

Domhnall Gleeson, Rachel McAdams, Bill Nighy, Lindsay Duncan, Tom Hollander, Lydia Wilson, Margot Robbie.
Writer/director: Richard Curtis.

ALL good things must come to an end. As a writer and more recently a director, Richard Curtis has warmed the cockles of the nation's heart with his rose-tinted romantic comedies that suggest every bumbling, accident-prone Englishman gets the impossibly beautiful girl with a combination of expletives, dry humour and good fortune.

Our love affair with Curtis started in 1994 with Four Wedding & A Funeral, which earned him an Oscar nomination for his screenplay, and has continued unabated through Bean, Notting Hill, Bridget Jones's Diary, Love Actually and various sequels.

About Time is purportedly his final film (as director – he'll carry on writing) and it is a fittingly amusing and heartbreaking swansong.

Set largely in London with occasional forays to the picturesque Cornish coast, this bittersweet romcom concerns not only saying goodbye to the people you love, but also bidding farewell to childhood and the safety net of a parent's guiding hand.

Admittedly, Curtis is guilty of old habits.

His characters are almost exclusively white and upper middle class, and seem to be able to afford sizeable properties in the capital despite modest salaries.

Once you accept that realism is a distant stranger to certain elements of the writing, About Time casts a heady spell.

Shortly after he turns 21 years old, nice guy Tim (Domhnall Gleeson) is ushered into the office of his father (Bill Nighy) for a revealing heart-to-heart.

"Get ready for spooky time!" begins the old man with a twinkle in his eye, revealing that Tim harks from a long line of male time travellers, who can go back along their own timeline to correct past mistakes and relive fond memories.

Tim is stunned by his father's outlandish claim and with obvious scepticism, he heads for the nearest dark cupboard and clenches his fists as instructed.

Sure enough, Tim is able to skip back through his personal history.

The young man begins to master this new skill, which comes in very handy when he crosses paths with an insecure beauty called Mary (Rachel McAdams) and bungles their first meeting.

With the benefit of time travel, Tim corrects wrinkles in the relationship and romance blossoms.

However, every correction risks ripples through time and Tim gradually learns that there are some imperfections which must never be smoothed.

"All the time travel in the world can't make someone love you," Tim's father reminds him tenderly.

About Time is a treat.

Cast in the everyman role usually reserved for Hugh Grant, Gleeson is a loveable hero and catalyses wonderful screen chemistry with McAdams and Nighy.

Laughter abounds, tempered by the poignancy of sequences between Tim and his father, which are among Curtis's finest work on the page.

Secret plenty of handkerchiefs about your person – the final 15 minutes will wring you dry.

Premier division away victory for Puritans in a game of two penalties

Two-goal Bridges earns United win

SCOTT Bridges bagged a brace as Banbury United won at Redditch United in the Premier Division.

Banbury signed goalkeeper Leigh Bedwell on a month's loan from Swindon Town on the eve of the game as a replacement for Ben McNamara, who is bound for Northampton Town.

And he was quickly into the action to deny Jamie Molyneux.

Banbury enjoyed a good spell with Adeyinka Talabi's header being scrambled away by Sam Hornby, who then pulled off a good save from Kynan Isaac.

Banbury's pressure was rewarded in the 37th minute when Isaac surged inside the penalty area before shooting past Hornby.

Redditch levelled 69 minutes later. Edwin Ahenkorah was brought down inside the penalty area, and Harvey Headley sent

Redditch United	2

Banbury United	3
(Isaac 37, Bridges pen 62, 72)

Bedwell the wrong way from the spot.

Isaac almost struck again early in the second half when his shot was turned on to a post by Hornby.

Banbury restored their lead just after the hour mark when Bridges blasted home a penalty after Ryan was pushed inside the penalty area.

Redditch equalised on 71 minutes when Headley turned in a cross.

But within a minute, Bridges grabbed his second, meeting Aaron Morgan's left-wing cross with a diving header.

Adeyinka Talabi had a header scrambled away

Banbury finish third despite defeat at home

DESPITE a spectacular innings from Lloyd Sabin, above, Banbury lost by 67 runs at home to High Wycombe and had to settle for third place in the Division 1 table.

Wycombe, needing a win to be certain of avoiding the drop, rattled up 236-4 from 50 overs thanks to a sparkling unbeaten 94 off 105 balls by former Surrey all-rounder Jamie Benning.

The only bowler to escape punishment was Luke Ryan who took 2-23 in 10 immaculate overs.

The target was a gettable one for Banbury. But nobody could stay with opener Sabin, who made 93 from 109 balls before being last out with the score on 169 in the 40th over.

The only player to give support was Ashley Blanchard in a seventh-wicket stand of 65, as Jonathan Burden claimed five wickets for Wycombe.

ARIES

Mar 21-Apr 19

Someone is trying to get a reaction out of you and, judging by the way you've been feeling, they're succeeding. Take a step back from your situation and look at it with fresh eyes. You don't have to mix with those who bring you down, so focus on those who make you smile, not those who make you feel depressed. Give me a call now to hear which sign is finally ready to commit to family.

0906 585 4360

LIBRA

Sep 23-Oct 22

Someone has let you down and the more you think about what's occurred recently, the more upset you're becoming. You're stronger than you think you are and they're also weaker than you'd hoped they were. From this week you start to see how much you've grown as a person and great things await. All you have to do is call up the real friends who count again. Phone now for clarity.

0906 585 4366

TAURUS

Apr 20-May 20

If you would stop rushing and take in the view around you then you would soon learn that the person you want commitment and answers from has already given both to you. Contracts prove lucky especially if signed before Thursday. You're starting an exciting new chapter and events this week confirm you were right to make recent sacrifices. Call now for clarity and clear vision.

0906 585 4361

SCORPIO

Oct 23-Nov 21

Don't say you're not strong when the recent events you've been through this year prove the very opposite. Family haven't been much good to you recently but relationships with them start to improve from Tuesday when they offer you a long awaited olive branch. Wear blue for luck in important meetings. Call me now to hear why this is a great week for new introductions.

0906 585 4367

GEMINI

May 21-Jun 20

Don't regret what you've done with your life, just regret what you haven't done and make up for lost time by laying plans this week to do what makes you happy. It's time to cut ties with a bad habit which has never and will never do you any favours. Overseas links offer some exciting plans which may turn out to be long term ones sooner than you think. Ring now for more on this special time.

0906 585 4362

SAGITTARIUS

Nov 22-Dec 21

You are the natural first choice for people when they want to share their problems, but just make sure you keep some space and time for yourself too. After all Sagittarius, if you don't make yourself a priority then why should anyone else. House moves and sales go well now. Deals can be made in your favour. Give me a call now for an important message from Uranus.

0906 585 4368

CANCER

Jun 21-Jul 22

You're going to be more than a little tempted to give up on what you're doing but try to hang on in there for at least the rest of this month. The Moon is ripe for reconciliation this weekend, but aspects suggest that you must be the first one to offer a hand of friendship. New flirtations give you reason to question what you really want. Ring me now, I have a surprise to share with you.

0906 585 4363

CAPRICORN

Dec 23-Jan 19

Open up to life Capricorn! It's very easy for an earth sign such as you to close themselves off from the world, but you've been there, done that and got the t-shirt and it really didn't suit you. Conversations you have this week help you realise that life can, and should be an adventure. Give me a call now to hear why cancelled plans in business make way for a better deal.

0906 585 4369

LEO

Jul 23-Aug 22

Don't push yourself into a corner and make promises you don't really intend to keep. You would be far better to keep an open diary so you can let the offers come to you my friend. Emotions work overtime in family affairs. Try to leave others to sort out their own problems. If you get involved you may just end up being blamed for what's not your fault. Ring now to reveal your true calling.

0906 585 4364

AQUARIUS

Jan 20-Feb 18

Although you haven't exactly moved on from what occurred recently, the person concerned has. Try to focus on what's ahead, not what's behind. An ex will be knocking at the door of many an Aquarian but don't even go there. They weren't right then and they're not right now. Great things await you and all you have to do is work on that self confidence issue. Ring now so I can help you.

0906 585 4370

VIRGO

Aug 23-Sep 22

A great week to lay down some travel plans. You need to know you're committed to something before you can give yourself to it mentally as well as physically. News of a birth or pregnancy gives you reason to question your own set up in life. Don't let Jupiter push you into paying out more than you should for something you can get for free. Ring now to hear what your future holds.

0906 585 4365

PISCES

Feb 19-Mar 20

Of course, you should be there to help those close to you but you can't help people who don't want to help themselves. Back off this week and let others come to you for a change. You should get to hear some words and witness some actions which I think will pleasantly surprise you. Give me a call now to hear why it's important you find some more time for what you enjoy again.

New 4x4 moves up in the world

By David Duffy

IF you think that you see an awful lot of 4x4 vehicles on the road, you would be right.

The compact 'sports utility vehicle' sector of the car market is one of the few in Europe that is still growing and Toyota is determined to continue to be part of it.

The Japanese car maker launched the original RAV4 back in 1994 as a compact three-door, but, like most vehicles, it has steadily grown in size over the years.

Unlike the cutesie, slightly cramped original, the fourth generation model, which has plenty of space for five adults and luggage, is far more heavily focused on family use. While the space on offer has soared, so has the number of fixtures and fittings. A glance at the leather-trimmed steering wheel, with its 13 buttons and cruise control stalk, tells you all you need to know about how far upmarket Toyota has moved this car. Think large, leather-lined, air-conditioned luxury saloon, then raise that up, with an elevated view of the road, and you have a better feel for where the RAV4 now sits.

Riding on 18-inch alloy wheels, the RAV4's sharper looks are in keeping with the 'family face' adopted over the range. Toyota says the clean-cut styling of the longer, wider and lower RAV4 delivers better handling and improved fuel efficiency.

Despite the increase in size, it is lively, manoeuvrable, quiet and easy to manage. What is instantly detectable at the wheel is that there is less wind noise at speed in the new model than its predecessor.

Power on the test model came from a 148 horsepower 2.2-litre diesel which delivers more power than you will ever need. The range has a new 2.0-litre model, fitted with stop & start technology, powering all two-wheel-drive versions.

The interior is much more swish than in the past, with metallic trim finish on the leading edge of the upper dashboard, silver trim on the driver's instruments, air vents and gear lever, carbon fibre-effect on the door switch panels and transmission tunnel and leather-like trim on the lower dashboard. And all the instruments and switchgear have new blue backlighting. Classy features on the test model range from push button start and a rear parking camera, to a powered tailgate — a useful touch when you have your hands full — with a memory function so you can set the opening to your preferred height.

Since the model's launch almost 20 years ago, Toyota has sold more than 4.5 million RAV4s in more than 150 countries worldwide, with more than 1.2 million of them taking to the road in Europe, 155,000 of them in the UK. You are likely to see plenty more.

'Universal' spare speeds roadside repairs

FOLLOWING a rise in the number of manufacturers that fit emergency tyre inflation kits instead of spare wheels, the RAC has introduced a 'universal' spare wheel to handle call-outs for unfixable punctures.

Many cars now come with a tyre inflation kit as standard, as this saves a significant amount of weight and therefore helps overall CO₂ emissions.

But some punctures or a complete blow-out cannot be fixed with the tyre sealant systems.

According to the RAC, in the 12 months up to August 2012, it responded to 87,000 breakdowns involving a puncture on a vehicle with no spare, and in the 12 months ending in August 2013 this increased to approximately 120,000.

However the RAC claims its 'universal' spare wheel, which fits the majority of cars that do not have a spare wheel fitted as standard, is the answer.

Developed with specialist manufacturer Dynomec working in partnership with tyre expert ATS Euromaster, the five-stud, 17in lightweight alloy multi-fit wheel fits a high proportion of vehicles.

A spokesman for the RAC said that fitting the wheel would significantly cut down the time spent by members at the roadside, often in potentially dangerous situations such as on the hard shoulder of motorways.

RAC patrols will fit the wheel quickly and liaise with the nearest ATS Euromaster centre on their behalf to find out what replacements are available.

Payment can be taken at the roadside by the RAC patrol, ensuring the customer can drive straight to ATS Euromaster, or book a mobile fitting at their convenience.

The RAC will then arrange collection of the spare directly from the ATS depot, avoiding any further hassle.

■ BRIDGE Motors, of Banbury, is hosting a celebratory 'Vauxhall 110-Year' event to mark the firm's 110 years of building and selling vehicles in the UK. From Friday to Monday, the dealership will be offering customers who purchase a new Vauxhall car or van the chance to drive away with a £500 cash gift, and benefit from a 20 per cent discount on Vauxhall accessories.

■ THE '13' registration number has proved lucky for new car sales in the UK as it has been the best selling six-month period in nine registration plate changes. From March 1 to the end of August, the number of 13-plate cars sold totalled 1,115,459 in the UK to make this the most successful new car sales period in five years. The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, which compiles information on new car sales, says this bodes well for the 63-reg that began on September 1.
